

PAWTION CARE — Web Platform (Initial Version)

This project marks the first iteration of Pawtion Care, developed as a web-based platform focused on providing pet care resources and services. It served as the foundational version that later inspired the full-featured mobile app. The website offers essential features for pet owners to access care information and manage pet needs efficiently online.

Welcome to Pawtion Care!

History

Pawtion Care, developed by a group of students in Bulacan State University Meneses Campus in 2023, aims to provide proper care and loving homes for stray animals. The organization focuses on rescuing and aiding these animals, who often face mistreatment and struggle to survive. Despite the increasing number of stray animals in the Philippines, Pawtion Care's objective is to lessen the number of stray animals left behind.

Developers

Edileen M. Manlangit, a programmer and developer of this mobile application, is known for her deep love and compassion for pets. Alongside dedicated developers, she took on the task of programming this app to address the needs of stray animals. Her dedication and technical expertise have been crucial in creating a platform that reflects her commitment to making a positive impact on the lives of animals in need.

Juliana A. Santos is one of the developers of this mobile application. She is best known for her deep affection for animals, embodying the qualities of a devoted pet lover. Her commitment to fostering meaningful connections between pets and loving homes inspired the development of Pawtion Care, driven by a desire to make a positive impact on animal welfare.

One of the inventors that started Pawtion Care with the goal of putting an end to animal abuse and suffering is Cyrl S. Ramos. It works to remove things that harm and upset animals and encourages better living conditions for them. Building a wholesome and mutually beneficial home for animals is the aim of Pawtion Care.

Jockebeth Aiah S. Dejesus is one of the developers who founded Pawtion Care as a natural extension of her love for animals and her commitment to their welfare. The goal is to find a loving home for every pet. She urges everyone to open their heart and adopt a pet and this mobile application was the best thing to help homeless pets everywhere.
